

Statement about FB post 6/20/2020

By Janie Landry

On Saturday June 20th I fell into the current practice of taking to social media to express frustration about a personal experience. In that ill-conceived post I made a reference to the recent actions by the Chick-Fil-A CEO concerning the BLM organization. Though not my intention, I realize the post may be interpreted as derogatory towards the message and sincere members of that organization. In no way do I downplay the movement, message or the plight of African Americans. In my 26-year career with the DDA, I have always tried to be a good representative for our organization. I failed in this moment with six words. I sincerely apologize to anyone offended, the Board of Directors and entire staff of the DDA.
